CAMBRIDGE

MARGARET ANSTEE RESEARCH FELLOWSHIP

Applications are invited from outstanding women graduates whose doctoral degrees are complete or very near completion, for a Stipendiary Research Fellowship (“Margaret Anstee Fellowship”) in subjects related to economic and social development and/or international relations.

The successful candidate will work in the new Margaret Anstee Centre for Global Studies (“The Margaret Anstee Centre”) to be founded at Newnham College in 2018 in honour of Dame Margaret Anstee, a graduate of the College, and the first woman Under-Secretary General of the United Nations. The Margaret Anstee Centre promotes research into economic and social development and/or international relations, and complements work being carried out elsewhere in the University. A second Margaret Anstee Fellow will be appointed in October 2019, and the Centre will also support one or more PhD and/or MPhil students. The Director will be appointed from within the College Fellowship.

Although based primarily at Newnham, the Margaret Anstee Fellow will be encouraged to build connections with at least one Department or Centre within the University of Cambridge, such as Anthropology, Education, Modern and Medieval Languages, Geography, History, Sociology and POLIS, and/or the Centres for African Studies, Latin American Studies, South Asian Studies, Governance and Human Rights, Global Human Movement, and Development Studies.

We particularly welcome applications from candidates working on emerging trends in international development. This includes but is not limited to issues around modernisation, infrastructures and growth corridors; financial technology and development finance; and the changing approaches and roles of (so-called) ‘traditional’ and ‘non-traditional’ state and non-state development actors, including the UN and other multilateral organisations.

APPLICATION INFORMATION

2. According to the terms of Margaret Anstee’s will, the Fellowship is restricted to women who are ‘developing world’ citizens or citizens of the UK, in each case intending to make their career in economic and social development and/or international relations.
